

AN UPDATE FROM YOR HEALTH

As we continue to monitor the rapidly evolving situation around the coronavirus (COVID-19), our first thought is for the safety and well-being of all individuals impacted by these difficult circumstances.

What we do know is, it is more important than ever to keep your immune system, and your body, healthy. And we are thankful for our customers who choose our premium quality products to ensure optimum health.

In saying so, we are currently seeing a high demand for our immunity boosting products. We assure you that our inventory is stocked and we are committed to meeting this demand.

You can count on us to continue to do our best serving you. Our Fulfillment Centers will remain open and will process orders out as fast as possible.

We greatly appreciate the hard work and dedication of all our employees as we work to get these crucial products into the hands of our customers during this time of need.

For updates and resources to help you navigate the COVID-19 outbreak, visit <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-nCoV/index.html>

Thank you,

Yor Health